

Style Watch: Springtime Rabbit-Inspired Seating are trending right now.

If they're not on your radar already, these quirky design pieces were dreamed up Italian designer Stefano Giovannoni, brought to life by the Italian brand Qeeboo.

Available in many shades, from pale tones like baby blue subscribe to the times newspaper bold saturated colours such as hot pink.

Why do they work so well for the holiday? It's that playful rabbit shape that connects with Easter's imagery, but still feeling timeless.

The Rabbit Chair isn't just for kids — it's furniture and sculpture in one. They're perfect for the garden, others use them as playful dining seats.

The cost depends depending on size, with smaller models for children and larger statement chairs for lounges.

If you're into whimsical furniture, now's the time to buy before they sell out.
